SERUMGARD IN CAMPAIGN FOR
STATE OFFICEDevils Lake Man Announces
Candidacy for Commissioner
Of Agriculture and Labor

TO RUN WITH STEGNER

Will Campaign State With Local Man, it Is Said, After Conference Here

Silver Serumgard, of Devils Lake, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor at the forthcoming primary on June 28 on a "clean-up" platform with H. L. Stegner, of Bismarck, candidate for Governor. Mr. Serumgard held a conference with Mr. Stegner and the two laid plans, it is understood, for a campaign in the state together before the primary.

They will advocate the abolition of state socialism in the primary and will campaign together because, if elected, they would constitute the majority of the Industrial Commission with broad powers in the conduct of state industries. Mr. Serumgard said that he had found much opposition, particularly among farmers, to continuing heavy expenditures in socialist experiments, having come to the conclusion that they will not be successful and will only entail heavy cost to taxpayers.

Mr. Serumgard has been known in the state as a progressive Republican. He came to North Dakota in 1882, settled in Fargo, taught school, established a law office in Coopers-town in 1890 and later in Devils Lake. He was a member of the state board of regents from 1892 to 1897, achieving considerable prominence through his work in keeping the University of North Dakota open during the period in which the legislature failed to make appropriations. He has been city attorney of Devils Lake and states attorney of Ramsey county. He is married and has five children, two of his boys being at the front during the war.

On Many Boards
Mr. Serumgard has earned a great deal and given considerable attention to agricultural development in the state. He has been prominent in the affairs of the Sons of Norway in the state.

Under the present laws governing the office of state agriculture and labor, however, a great deal of the work with relation to agriculture is purely perfunctory, much of the power of extension of agriculture being vested in the state agricultural college. The commissioner of agriculture and labor is on many of the state boards of importance, including the Industrial Commission, as Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Bureau and the State Board of Administration where a varied experience in law and business is valuable.

W. Morse, New York ship-builder.

Mr. Caraway charged that the Attorney-General had requested Thomas Felder, former Georgia attorney, to "employ the government chief witness" in the Bosch magneto investigation as his assistant in defending the Bosch company. State Dairy Commissioner Flint
Puts Man in Field to Boost
Dairying

A plan for development of dairying in the state through creation of breeding-testing associations have been instituted by Robert Flint, state dairy commissioner. The effort of W. F. Reynolds, placed in active field work, resulted in the organization of a circuit in Kidder county.

After completing field work in this section of the state Mr. Flint hopes to extend the work into the northern part of the state where many Guernsey breeders desire that breeding and testing circuits be formed. Mr. Reynolds, who was obtained for a brief period, is a pioneer member of the Flasher Holstein Breeding-Testing Circuit.

Mr. Reynolds in co-operation with County Agent R. C. Newcomer of Grant county undertook and obtained additional members for the Flasher circuit and then went into Kidder county where he worked with County Agent R. E. Arnold. A new association was formed called the Holstein-Friesian Breeding-Testing Association. Fourteen members were enlisted in the organization, each paying a fee of $20 to start the work.

The new organization will work in co-operation with the Burleigh County Breeding-Testing Association. An agreement was signed whereby the Kidder and Burleigh county organizations will have the same superintendent of the testing and breeding work. Carl Wolon, formerly of the New Salem circuit, was obtained for the work.

It is announced that the superintendent can handle a few more members, and new members will be sought in Burleigh county by Mr. Reynolds and Louis Garske. The working agreement between the two organizations will make the initial expense small.

Mr. Reynolds reported that farmers he had interviewed who had visited the National Dairy show or made the trip to New Salem last year were more interested in dairying because of a better idea of what may be accomplished under conditions similar to theirs. He also reported that farmers he visited who had dairy herds had the ready money to go into the organization. He will continue his work during June.

It is the hope of Commissioner Flint to obtain a supervisor for all of the dairy circuits in this section of the state when several are formed.

"WEAR A POPPY

Begin Campaign for the Sale of Poppies

"Wear a Poppy on Memorial Day"—and buy it now.

This is the slogan of the American Legion Auxiliary which on Monday will begin the sale of 10,000 poppies in Bismarck before Memorial Day, May 30. The auxiliary hopes to repeat the splendid success of last year's sale.

The first consignment of poppies will be offered for sale Monday by a committee directed by Mrs. H. T. Murphy. Poppies for wear on Memorial Day and for decoration before that day as a memorial to the soldiers who lie in France will be offered by the committee.

The object of the campaign is to provide funds to enable the American Legion of North Dakota to carry on its service work and to clear its indebtedness. All of the proceeds from the sale will be used within the borders of North Dakota.

Last year just before May 30 many places of business in the city were decorated with poppies sold by the American Legion Auxiliary, and on Memorial Day nearly every one in the city wore a poppy. The poppy is the flower associated more closely with the World War than any other calling up to memory the heroic battles in Flanders fields and the heroes who lie beneath the soil there.

The American Legion Auxiliary is undertaking the work in a spirit of helpfulness and not for the gain of the Auxiliary itself. Their unselfish interest, it is expected, will bring them wide-spread support in their effort.

N. P. ATTITUDE
ON TAX PAYMENT

The Northern Pacific railroad is challenging tax levies in Dickey county on the ground that they are excessive and will pay a school tax in Steele, Kidder county, which it says is beyond the legal limit but not excessive, the state tax commissioner has been advised.

Suit has been instituted in Dickey county challenging the county levy on the ground that the levy for 1921 exceeded one-third of the combined taxes of the preceding three years and that the levy in the Dickey school district also is excessive.

Regarding the levy for Steele, Kidder county, the tax commissioner of the railroad wrote that "we do not desire to be a shoveler and demand our pound of flesh although it means an excess payment by us of about $3,000, because we believe the affairs of the district have been administered economically."

HASTINGS INDICTMENT

Fargo, May 20.—Hastings was indicted on one charge of making false entries, this was also in connection with the United Stores deals.

Fargo, May 20.—Three more arrests growing out of indictments returned by the Cass county grand jury which investigated affairs of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo were announced today by Sheriff Kraemer.

The men arrested are: J. J. Hastings, former vice-president of the bank, arrested at Pocatello, Idaho; N. G. Eggen, former vice-president and cashier of the bank, arrested at Los Angeles, Calif.

P. R. Sherman, former cashier of the bank, arrested at Los Angeles.

Mr. Eggen is coming to Fargo on his own recognizance to answer charges. Mr. Sherman has indicated he fight will extradition and Mr. Hastings has been given a few days respite because of illness of his wife, Mr. Kraemer said.

Mr. Sherman was indicted on four charges of making false entries.

Mr. Eggen was indicted on five charges of embezzlement growing out of transactions with the Bank of North Dakota.

On 11 charges of making false entries and false reports.

On 16 charges of accepting deposits when the bank was known to be insolvent.

The arrests of the three men opens a new line of prosecution.

Both are indicted on charges of making false reports in connection with certain loans that were made by the Scandinavian-American Bank to the Consumers United Stores Company and which were carried on the books of the bank to individuals whereas the individuals received no loans, officials said.

The state charges that this was a misrepresentation of the bank's condition to cover violation of law in making loans in amounts in excess of loans permitted by law.

J. J. Hastings was arrested some months ago on information filed in the Cass county court, brought back to Fargo and released on bond.

It was reported here that former Governor Frazier was not indicted by the grand jury, although there had been rumors to the effect that he was.

LEMKE'S STATEMENT.

Fargo, N. D., May 20.—(By the A. P.)—William Lemke, in a statement, attacked indictments returned against him in connection with the Scandinavian-American bank transactions as a political move by Attorney General Johnson.

"It is a sad day when the machinery of the law is invoked to function as a mud-slinging machine just before primary election," he said, adding that the attorney general has started something "but he never will finish it and he knows it."

The indictments were returned so that no trial can take place before the primaries, June 28, says the statement and expresses the belief that no trial will be held before the general election.

The grand jury which returned the indictments was made up of 19 Fargo residents "several notorious enemies of the league and only two farmers," if added, and witnesses included "a white slaver and a bribe taker."

The only men the state could depend on as principal witnesses were men "who have been kept on the state payroll in order that they would testify against me," the statement says.

TOTTEN'S DENIAL.

Fargo, N. D., May 20.—George Totten, Jr., indicted for forgery, made the following statement:

"The indictment against me rests on the technical charge of forgery on two counts to which I will, of course, plead not guilty. The alleged forgery is said to have been committed by me at the time I was business manager of the Courier-News and is based on the fact that campaign fund money which was sent into the Courier-News was not immediately turned over by me to the acting state executive committee which objected to my management of the Courier-News. The money was deposited in a local bank to the credit of the Courier-News and it remained untouched and unchecked upon and when I resigned as business manager of the Courier-News it was turned over intact to the then acting state executive committee. The endorsement of the checks so deposited is the county challenging the county levy on the ground that the levy for 1921 exceeded one-third of the combined taxes of the preceding three years and that the levy in the Dickey school district also is excessive."

LEAGUE EDITOR CHANGES.

Dunn Center, N. D., May 20.—Changes have been effected here in the management of the county Non-partisan league paper, the Dunn Center Journal. H. C. Darland, who has been its editor and manager for some time has resigned, and will hereafter be connected with the Garrison Independent, another league paper.

RENEW EFFORTS IN IMPROVING CUSTER PARK

Bismarck Women Receive Donations to Aid in Spring Work On The Tract

MUCH AID FREELY GIVEN

History of Park Records Unselfish Effort of Women to Make City Beauty Spot

Women of the Women's Community Council, who undertook the work of making a beauty spot in Bismarck for the benefit of all in Custer Park, have again engrossed in the task this season. They have already received support from many citizens who desire to see the work encouraged but can use additional cash contributions which may be made to Mrs. Robert Orr, chairman of the park committee of the council.

Through the efforts of the women of the council and the careful attention of A. F. McDonald the park already is blooming into a garden spot in the city. Many plants and trees set out last year are making excellent progress, and with continued effort and cooperation the women believe that they can make out of Custer park a spot that will be attractive not only to every resident of Bismarck but also to visitors to the city.

Donations This Year
Donations which have been made for the park in 1922 are given by the committee as follows: Fortnightly club, $5.00; P. E. O. Sisterhood, bed of perennials; Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Fields, bed of geraniums; Mr. and Mrs. Mollie, bed of geraniums; Mr. and Mrs. Moses, bed of perennials; Dr. and Mrs. Roan, bed of cannas; Mollie's club, cedar trees (replaced); Monday club, lilac clusters; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Breslow, honeysuckle cluster; Mrs. Thistethwaite, flower seeds; C. B. Little, two flower beds; Mrs. C. E. Will, bed of dahlias and gladioli.

There are 36 geraniums wintered from last year and these will be used in the flower beds. The committee states that A. F. McDonald is again in charge of the park and that it is through his careful attention and faithful labor that the park begins its 1922 season in such splendid condition.

"Although donations or plants and flowers have been sufficient to fill all the flower beds in the park, any cash donations to defray the expenses of new trees, seed, lawn-mower, etc., will be greatly appreciated by the committee in charge," the committee announces. "Anyone desiring to make any cash contribution, however small, may telephone Mrs. Robert Orr, chairman of the park committee."

History of Park
A history of Custer park is contained in the files of the Women's Community Council. After a very successful attempt at beautifying vacant lots at the corner of Fifth and Main streets during the summer of 1907, the Civic Improvement league decided to secure a plot of land somewhere in the city for a permanent small park and during the following winter gave a number of entertainments to raise money for that purpose.

The Custer park site was obtained in 1910, the purchase price being $585. The amount was secured in a few hours, the largest amount donated being $100 by Col. C. B. Little, who then said he would be pleased to give an equal amount towards the purchase of another park site on the east side of the city. The land was deeded to the city.

Trees were planted that spring, 100 trees being donated by O. H. Will. Impromptu exercises were held dedicating the park to the memory of General Custer. In October that year the services of a landscape architect was secured and a plan for the park was laid out. During the summers of 1911, 1912 and 1913 the Civic League expended over $1,100 for labor, trees and shrubs, water pipes and other minor expenses. In addition to the money expended, donations of trees were made by I. P. Baker and C. B. Little, H. A. Thompson donated labor in putting in water pipes, the Bismarck Water Co. supplied water at bare cost and the work was carried out under the supervision of T. R. Atkinson, without remuneration.

During the period of four years 400 trees and 150 shrubs were planted in Custer park, the retaining wall across Rosser street built, Thayer street laid out and grades across the park, walks and water pipes laid in the block between Thayer and Rosser and more than half of the four-acre tract planted in grass.

After the year 1913 there is no record of any work done or money expended by the Civic League for Custer park.

After 1915 the city commission was able to employ a man for park work during the summer months. In 1917 A. E. Preston was appointed custodian of the park and for two years took much interest in its improvement. From Sept. 1915 to 1919 the city commission expended $1,400 on the park. "After ten years of such discouraging conditions it is surprising that between 180 and 170 trees, fifteen clusters of spirea, nine of lilacs, and three of spruce survived and at the present time make a beautiful showing for the work of those who did the pioneering in park work for the city of Bismarck," says the council history.

New Effort Made
In the spring of 1921 the Community Council decided to undertake the beautification of the park and appointed Mrs. Robert Orr, Mrs. C. W. Moses, Mrs. C. L. Young, Mrs. F. R. Smith and Mrs. A. S. Hoffman in charge of the work. A great deal of work was done last year, and the efforts this year are directed toward preserving that work and adding to it.

"Every one who visits Custer park at this time must be convinced that its future success as a beauty spot and recreation center is assured, and as such, the city should take great pride

YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THIS SINCE 1901!

See anything unusual about the picture above?

It shows President Harding, Mrs. Harding and Secretary of State Hughes and was taken while the trio was enjoying a baseball game at Washington.

No? Look again! It's the first time in 21 years that such a picture has been obtainable.

The reason? President Harding is the first chief executive who smoked since the days of President McKinley. And that was back in 1901.

President Harding is a dyed-in-the-wool fan. The Washington players regard him as a real mascot. When they see the president in his box, they are always confident of victory. And usually get it.

At the opening game, when the president was the honor guest, the Senators won from the champion

Yanks. Recently the Washington club hit a slump, losing seven straight. Evidently the president thought the team needed him, for the next day he was on the job. And Walter Johnson pitched the Nats to a 2 to 1 win over St. Louis.

The president is a great admirer of Johnson and always makes an effort to see the games. Walter is slated to pitch.

in preserving and maintaining it; as it was not only the gift of generous citizens, but will remain through the years to come a fitting memorial to the public spirit, energy and unselfishness of Bismarck women," the record reads.

SHORTRIDGE IN PRAISE OF KENTUCKIANS

Union May Have Been Dissolved Had Kentucky Joined Seceding States

LINCOLN USED GREAT TACT

Iowa City, Ia., May 19.—Had Kentucky joined the seceding states "there would probably have been a dissolution of the union," Dr. Wilson Porter Shortridge, professor of history at the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky., told the Mississippi Valley Historical association at its meeting here. "A false move have meant that Kentucky would have gone with the lower south," said Dr. Shortridge, who compared the position of Kentucky at the outbreak of hostilities to the attempt of the United States to maintain armed neutrality during the World War, and traced the transition of the state to armed neutrality and finally to participation in the war for the union. He spoke in part as follows:

"The impulse to follow the cotton states into secession was very strong in 1860-64, and it was only very skillful political maneuvering that this action was delayed until after March 4, 1861. Even then it required the exercise of great tact on the part of President Lincoln to keep Kentucky in the union.

"The fact that Kentuckians were related by blood to the people of both slave and free states and that Kentucky was intimately bound to both sections by economic ties had great influence in determining the attitude of the state in 1861. The method used was an attempt at neutrality between the sections similar in some respects to the attempt of the United States to maintain neutrality between 1914 and 1917. Kentucky declared neutrality partly because public opinion in the state was not crystallized immediately one way or the other and partly because of the hope that by preserving neutrality between the sections Kentucky might act as a mediator in bringing hostilities to an end. As the difficulties of maintaining neutrality increased Kentucky passed into a position of armed neutrality. This position was one step in the crystallization of public opinion in Kentucky, and the eventual outcome of the war was in large measure dependent upon the outcome of the situation in Kentucky. This fact was recognized and fully appreciated by President Lincoln. "The question of the preservation of the Union was suspended at different times by very slender threads, but perhaps none was more slender than that regarding ultimately occupy. For that reason the story of the struggle first to maintain neutrality in Kentucky and then to bring public opinion safely from neutrality to participation in the struggle between the sections has great importance in American history."

SPEED-UP POLICY IS ADOPTED BY SWEDISH GOVT.

Stockholm, May 19.—A speed-up policy in all business and industrial activities under its control has been adopted by the Swedish government, which is headed by Premier Branting. So-called leader. In keeping with this policy, a special committee of experts assigned to report on best methods of exploiting the national forest reserves now urges the government to expand its forestry enterprises, erect paper pulp mills, establish saw mills or state forest domains and go into business on a more aggressive scale with increased efficiency and closer economy.

The committee proposes that the government erect a paper pulp mill and take over three saw mills in northern Sweden and that the State Domains Board, having control of governmental business enterprises, be authorized to build new saw mills in different parts of the country where the government owns forest lands.

Last year the gross revenues of the government domains amounted to 28,400,000 kronor (equivalent to about $7,385,000). The government is anxious to increase these revenues.

TWO NEGROES KILLED BY MOBS

Davisboro, Ga., May 19.—Charles Atkins, 15, a negro, one of four taken into custody in connection with the killing of Mrs. Elizabeth Kitchens, 20, was burned at the stake last night.

The lynching occurred at the scene of the murder and followed an alleged confession from the 15-year-old prisoner. He was tortured over a slow fire for 16 minutes and then, shrieking with pain, was questioned concerning his accomplices.

Conroe, Tex., May 19.—The body of a young negro was found by Grimes county farmers swinging from a tree by a roadside near Plantersville. The negro, who was known by the name of Early, apparently had been lynched some time last night.

FLYER WRECK

Wreck of the Black Diamond Express, crack train of the Lehigh Valley near Leroy, N. Y., 45 miles east of Buffalo, on May 13. Three were killed and 25 injured when the train left the rails after a collision at a cross road, with a speeding auto.

SUBTERRANEAN FIRES CAN NOW BE QUENCHED

Fires, Burning For 15 Years, Being Smothered Under Million Tons of Mud

Anaconda, Mont., May 19.—Fighting fires in mines is a slow, tedious job and since the dawn of mining has been considered almost a hopeless undertaking. Rich mines in many parts of the world have been burning for generations, their rich stores of wealth being guarded from the hands of man by a barrier of deadly gases and rock walls white with the heat of fires smoldering beyond.

But underground fires no longer are to be considered unquenchable, as in the Butte district a process of fire fighting has been developed by the Anaconda Copper Mining company, which is salvaging an ore body of tremendous extent. Fires that have been burning for 15 years in three connecting mines are being smothered under a million tons of mud.

By the end of 1922 two million tons of metalliferous ore, containing, according to expert estimates, at least $6,000 tons of copper, once more will be accessible.

A great part of this store of wealth already has come within the reach of the miners and not only that, but a large area which heretofore has been inaccessible because of poisonous gases, now is being worked.

Process Not Complicated.
The process of fighting the subterranean fire as developed by the Anaconda is an adaptation of an idea evolved in 1884 by fire fighters at a coal mine in the Schuylkill region of Pennsylvania. Saturated, decomposed rock and other materials which came originally from the stope and were discarded as tailings in the process of copper extraction, simply have been turned back into the fire area. Water, which in many cases has proved its uselessness as an extinguisher of underground fires, is used for transportation. It conveys the tailings in the form of silt down to the fire regions, 1,200 to 2,000 feet underground where the soup-like slime fills the abandoned drifts, cross cuts and stopes and literally smothers the fire.

Though complicated the task of extinguishing the fires in the Butte district has been difficult and long, beginning in the fall of 1917 and continuing until now, employing 250 men on a 24-hour shift.

HAYES BELIEVES IN FUTURE OF WINTER WHEAT

Fargo, N. D., May 19.—North Dakota may become a winter wheat state in time, plant breeders at the Agricultural College say. They are working on hardy breeds of winter wheat but admit that a number of serious difficulties must be overcome before these can be overcome in North Dakota.

The first great obstacle is that the winter wheat is not hardy enough to withstand the winters of this climate. The second is that its hardest strains are not rust resistant. H. K. Hayes, plant breeder of the University of Minnesota, believes in the future of winter wheat in northern climates and has developed two hardy strains—Minn Turkey and Minn Hardy. One of the parents was Turkey, a common strain of winter wheat which is grown from Kansas as far north (to a limited extent) as Alberta, Can. The other was a more rugged Russian kind. The Minnesota hybrids developed to be harder than either the parent strains and it is with these that the North Dakota agricultural college men are working.

FARMER-LABOR PARTY ENTERS MICH. POLITICS

Herbert Baker, Farmer, Is Entered In U. S. Senatorial Race By Them

ENTERS AS REPUBLICAN

Detroit, Mich., May 19.—A new political movement in Michigan in which numbers of trade unionists and farmers are expected to join, is seen here following a recent organization meeting in Grand Rapids attended by farmers from various parts of the state and union labor representatives from 30 cities.

The convention entered Herbert F. Baker, a farmer of Weadock, and a member of the last state senate, as a candidate for United States senator in the Republican primaries next September.

The farmer-labor supporters decided to work through the Republican party rather than to organize a third party. Mr. Baker was the only candidate endorsed for any office. It being determined to leave selection of a complete political slate for a later meeting. Haste in naming a senatorial candidate was deemed advisable, leaders in the movement said, because three republican candidates for the senate already were in the field, Senator Charles E. Townsend, Congressman

Patrick H. Kelley, and John G. Emory, former national commander of the American Legion.

"The Michigan movement is a part of the national campaign on the part of labor unions and farmers' organizations to bring about amalgamation of effort, it was indicated.

The Michigan campaign will be most vigorous, according to leaders of the division. The new branch of the republican party itself "The Michigan Progressive League."

During the Grand Rapids convention some delegates suggested that the new division support Woodbridge N. Ferris, former governor, for the senate, in the event Mr. Baker declined to enter the race. Eugene J. Brock, Detroit labor leader, who presided at the conference, replied that "we will cross that bridge when we get to it."

Mr. Ferris was endorsed as the democratic candidate for the senate at the recent conference of Michigan Democrats in Grand Rapids. Up to this time Mr. Baker has not announced he would be a candidate.

One of the chief efforts of the campaign, it was said at the farmer-labor meeting, would be to bring about a political alignment of farmers and members of trade unions.

UTILITY CASE HEARD TODAY

The state railroad commission this morning heard the case of the Capital Commercial Company against the Hughes Electric Company in which the petitioner demanded that service be restored to it, which it alleged had been cut off without any valid reason.

An amended petition also demanded that the commission reduce rates of the Hughes Company which were alleged to be exorbitant. The commission declined to consider the rate phase of the matter.

TRIBUNE WANTS—FOR RESULTS

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-sought-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied. Write today.

George A. McFarland, Williston, was named president of the state high school conference at its business session.

P. S. Berg, Dickinson; L. A. White, Minot; C. L. Love, Mandan, and the chairman of the university conference committee, were named an executive committee which will take active charge of the high school conference activities without in any other way changing its character and events held under its auspices.

A constitution was adopted outlining the plan.

Fargo will again entertain the annual convention of the state teachers' association Nov. 22-23-24 as a result of executive committee action yesterday.

15,000 BOOSTER PAMPHLETS WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

Watford City, N. D., May 20.—Fifteen thousand 28-page pamphlets, the expense of printing which was financed by businessmen of the county who bought 7,500 copies at the price charged for printing all, have just been issued from the press. The businessmen are mailing out the copies which they received, and the remaining pamphlets will be used to advertise the resources of the county in other states.

The booklets are profusely illustrated with typical McKenzie county farm and field scenes as well as views of scenic beauty spots. Considerable data is given as to the soil, land values, crop statistics, statements of residents and photographs of farm products.

Much of the work of preparing copy and collecting photographs was done by M. B. Johnson, county agent.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE HAS A NEW SLOGAN

Fargo, N. D., May 20.—"Our state, our campus," will be the new slogan of the North Dakota Agricultural college, selected by a committee from the faculty, assisted by three Fargo businessmen, following a contest for a $10 prize offered by President John Lee Coulter.

Mildred Fraser of Fargo and Earl Bute of Doran, Minn., will share equally in the prize as the new slogan was an adaptation taken from the two submitted by Miss Fraser and Mr. Bute. Miss Fraser suggested: "The State Our Campus: A. C. the state's college." Mr. Bute's choice was: "A Campus as Large as the State of N. D."

The judges were Dean E. S. Keene, A. H. Parrott, W. F. Sudro, Stanley A. Smith and R. O. Nafziger. This committee asked for the judgment of a committee of Fargo businessmen consisting of R. E. F. Colley of the Forum, J. A. Pierce of the Pierce Printing company, and Henry D. Brown, Fargo dry cleaner, before making a final choice. They asked the businessmen for suggestions as to advertising values.

Other suggestions, which received honorable mention were: "A Greater North Dakota Through a Greater A. C."; "Make Our College Your College"; "Better Citizens Through Better Training."

RAINS RAISE LEVEL OF LAKE

Spiritwood, N. D., May 20.—Recent heavy rains have raised the level of Spiritwood lake as high or higher than in the '90s, according to pioneers of this section. The high water has caused some damage and inconvenience to residents along the shore of the lake. Occupants of the LaBrash cottage were forced to wade out of their home at midnight when the waters began to come up through the floor. The house, now surrounded by a bay of the lake is being moved to shore. Some damage has been done to boat houses, docks and porches.

The high waters are favorable to the spawning of fish, it is stated. The pike and perch fishing season opened May 15.

MIX DRAWS CROWDS WITH NEW PICTURE

Tom Mix's popularity seems to grow with each picture he makes. The William Fox star drew big crowds to each showing of his latest offering, "Up and Going," at the Capitol theater yesterday. Mix is always entertaining and he always has a good story. Usually he picks good scenery as a background for these stories, but this time he has outdone all his previous plays in the matter of scenic effects. "Up and Going" is a Canadian Northwest story; and really, aside from the tale, the scenery is worth the price of admission.

President of Associated Advertising Clubs Speaks Upon Cycle of Business

NO GAIN TO WAIT

Charles Henry Mackintosh Comments on Those Who Would Put Off Buying

The fallacy of the talk that one should not buy now because prices "will hit the bottom in two or three months" was exposed by Charles Henry Mackintosh, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in his talk here and in Mandan yesterday following a luncheon of the Town Criers club. Several Bismarck Town Criers accompanied Mr. Mackintosh to Mandan.

The country has passed the period of great price fluctuations, Mr. Mackintosh said. There will be changes in price, up and down, but the person who buys anything now expecting to gain by a rapid increase in price or who refuses to buy now because he expects the market to go lower in the next few months is foolish, he showed.

The person who buys now will get just as full value as at any other time, he emphasized. The person who waits until prices hit the bottom will have to wait 25 years, he said. He predicts a declining market for a quarter of a century, but a very gradual decline and not a steady one, Mr. Mackintosh said.

"Colonel Ayres, the government statistician who founded the Statistical Department for the American Expeditionary Force over in France and then came back to Washington and investigated price figures running more than a century, has prepared a very interesting chart which shows us that the extreme peak of high prices occurred over which we have just passed is nothing new in the history of our country. We have heard people talking as if this last burden of high prices were something absolutely unparalleled in the history of this country while it has happened precisely three times the same way. Three times, prices have gone up 250 per cent above the starting point. The first time, after a slow and steady climb of thirty years, that peak was reached in 1812. The war of 1812 accelerated the climb of high prices so much that they toppled over and started down. Then for twenty-five or thirty years that downward path continued until the bottom of the valley was reached. Once more prices started to climb until after a quarter of a century the war of 1861-1864 accelerated the prices and toppled them over. Again they started downward and kept going down for a period of twenty-five years when once more they started up for twenty-five or thirty years until the great war accelerated them enormously and again they toppled over and started down.

"History Repeats Itself

"Commercial history repeats itself. We have started down a path which will keep on going for twenty-five years and those who say that we may expect a return to wartime prices or expect the bottom of the valley to be reached within a few months are misguided, optimists and speak certainly without intelligent knowledge of the facts of history as revealed to us by investigation of the commercial history of this country. Don't think for one minute that the suggestion that we may have a descending price market for the next quarter of a century and that it may be at least fifty years before prices return to 250 per cent above the valley level, means that we are going to have hard times for at least twenty-five years.

Nothing in Common.

"Prosperity and high prices have nothing in common. If high prices meant prosperity, which would be the most prosperous country in the world? It would cost you (but I hope it won't cost any of you) 1,500,000 rubles to buy a suit in Russia. It would cost you 2,000 rubles to send a first class letter. If high prices meant prosperity, obviously a country having prices which have reached such high levels would be the most prosperous in the world. In reality, of course, high prices have nothing to do with prosperity. The only relation is this: How much in commodities can a man get for what he earns by his labor? How much will his effort buy him? Seven hundred years ago, the workmen building Westminster Abbey and the Tower of London were paid a penny and three-farthings a day for their work. If that would buy them the same quantity of commodities as the salary of a workman today, then those workmen of 700 years ago were just as prosperous as our workmen today because it is what we can get with what we earn that decides whether we are prosperous. As prices fall the purchasing power of the dollar comes up, so from the standpoint of the general public, this constant fluctuation in prices means practically nothing.

"While prices are going up, the value of the dollar is falling and when prices are coming down the purchasing power of the dollar is going up.

"From the standpoint of merchandising this means a big problem. We will have to do business for the next twenty-five years on a falling market instead of doing business on a rising market as we have for the past quarter of a century. Very few of our present business people have had personal experience in doing business as we will be required to do it for the next quarter of a century. There is all the difference in the world between buying and selling on a rising market and a falling one.

WOMAN'S PARTY TO DEDICATE NEW HEADQUARTERS

THE "OLD BRICK CAPITOL" AT WASHINGTON, NOW THE HOME OF THE NATIONAL WOMAN'S PARTY. INSET: MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT.

By NEA Service.

Washington, May 20.—The future campaigns of the National Woman's party will be conducted from the same building where once the Congress of the United States itself met.

The "Old Brick Capitol" on First street, N.E., facing the capitol grounds, was occupied by the government as the temporary capitol from 1814 to 1819, while the capitol building itself, destroyed by the British, was being rebuilt.

Purchased by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont as a home for the Woman's Party and the old building will be dedicated May 21 to the cause of advancing the power of women in national political life. From it, the party's leaders say, will be directed a campaign "which will continue until every law, every custom, every prejudice and tradition which bars the road of free opportunity to women, has been removed."

Following the dedication, work of remodeling the headquarters will begin. The expense of this work also will be borne by Mrs. Belmont.

In final form, the headquarters will include a great feminist library, legislative reference rooms, meeting halls and offices. They will serve not only as the working headquarters of the Woman's Party, but as a meeting place for the women from all parts of this country and from foreign countries.

In addition to its history as temporary capitol, the old building has a historic interest for women in the fact that, during the Civil war, it was used as a prison for Confederates too distinguished for the common jails.

The most beautiful spy of the south, Belle Boyd a girl still in her teens, was a prisoner there for many months. But from being a prison for women, the house is now to become the center of work for greater feminine freedom.

executive committee for the show, that the Elks lodge, having provided a swimming pool for Bismarck is not going to desert it. There are several improvements which the Elks would like to make in order to make the swimming pool more attractive and these will be made, it is expected, from part of the proceeds of the minstrel show.

FACTORY WOMEN TO BE STUDENTS AT BRYN MAWR

Philadelphia, May 20.—Women who work with their hands for their living will again be students at Bryn Mawr college this summer at the second term "for women in industry." The classrooms, filled during the regular term with daughters of wealthy American families will be used during the summer by women who work in factories, laundry workers, glove makers, telephone operators and representatives of a score of industries.

Admission to the summer school, instituted last year, is limited to women and girls who "work with the tools of their trade." The school last year had an enrollment of 80 and for the term this summer, from June 15 to August 10, applications of 100 candidates were accepted.

An international aspect will attach to the school this year in that 11 countries are represented.

Applicants were selected by districts and these were passed upon by a central admission committee. The district committees after examining hundreds of applicants, submitted the names of 143 candidates. The central committee accepted 87 of these. In and additional classification known as the "leaders group," 13 were selected by the central committee.

NEW TRAILS ARE PROPOSED

Important Steps to be Taken at Williston

Williston, N. D., May 20.—Two important meetings looking toward highway development will be held here May 22.

The purpose of one meeting is to designate an international highway planned to run from Regina, Sask., through the western part of North and South Dakota to Denver, Col., connecting county seats in counties traversed. The tentative route would pass through Noonan, Crosby, Alamo, Williston, Alexander, Arnegard, Watford, City, Grassy Butte, Killdeer, Manning, Dickinson, New England, Amidon and Bowman, and thence to Buffalo, S. D.

The purpose of the other meeting is to promote a highway to connect the Roosevelt trail at Williston with the Yellowstone trail at Glendive, Mont. There are marked trails on this connecting route, but the object is to make it one through highway with uniform markings, and to make it a federal and state aid project.

LIGHTNING CAUSES TROUBLE.

Williston, N. D., May 20.—A bolt of lightning Friday afternoon during an electric storm put the generator out of commission which supplies the current for the city, at the plant of the Washburn Lignite Coal company. The lightning burned out the coils in the generator in spite of the lightning arresters which are supposed to protect the machine. Williston residents on being informed that the lightning system was out of commission hastily secured candles or dug out their old kerosene for the emergency. The machinery was soon repaired.

June Time Is Gift Time

The High School and College Graduates hold our attention.

Choosing a Gift need not be a problem and a burden. Of course it is likely to be a matter of serious thought, because the gift you finally select must reflect your affection and good taste, and in addition it must please the young person who receives it.

Gift purchasers will readily appreciate the effort we have put forth to procure up to the minute gifts at a reasonable price.

"STEP LIVELY" IS NAME CHOSEN FOR BIG ELKS MINSTREL SHOW, JUNE 2-3

"Step Lively."

That's the name of the Elks minstrel frolic of 1922, which will be shown at the Auditorium on June 2 and 3.

The name indicates something. The minstrel show is a fast-stopping, rip-roaring melange of minstrelsy from start to finish, and the members of the talent committee and few stars of last year's big production already are tuning up their wind-pipes to get in step for the lively show.

Clint Draper, who is directing the show, sang and hummed a few of the tunes which will embellish the show, just before the Elks meeting last night. He has a bunch of new songs, some well known tunes—both plaintive, crooning southern melodies and razzing jazzy deck-hand songs.

The talent committee has already presented Mr. Draper with some prospective new stars of the show, and with practically all of the old talent to draw from, a weeding out process is to be started early next week.

The first scene of the big show will be the preliminary of a minstrel rehearsal, with Draper as the wild-eyed director and a score of would-be minstrel stars seeking part in the show. The scene is a fun-maker from start to finish, giving plenty of opportunity for rich dialogue, songs and dances. The scene was first produced at an actors' frolic at the Lambs club, New York, where George M. Cohan, Willie Collier and a few others were a part of the bunch seeking jobs as performers in the minstrel show.

A dozen trunks filled with new costumes and burnt cork and a score of pieces of scenery have been brought to Bismarck by Mr. Draper for the show. Mr. Draper's last show was in

Up to Mother to Keep Baby's Milk Pure

CERTIFIED MILK HELPS A BABY TO HOLD HIS SPINE DIRECT

By Mrs. Max West
Late of the United States Children's Bureau.

Some wise person once remarked that the most important thing that goes into the baby's bottle is the goodness of the mother.

The milk may be of the purest when it leaves the dairy, but if it stands on a sunny doorstep for an hour or two, or waits in a hot kitchen while the mother goes to market, or is left in an open dish for flies to fall into, it will not be fit to give the baby.

Milk is an extremely delicate article, and is the favorite food of certain little cells that are capable of making great trouble for the baby, once they get inside him. They love milk of a mild temperature and when they find it, they grow and multiply with amazing rapidity.

On the other hand they are greatly discouraged either by cold or heat. Therefore, the first law of the care of the milk should be "keep it very cold." It should be chilled before it leaves the dairy. Then it should be kept chilled until it is delivered at the house.

After that the mother must play her part. The milk should be taken in the moment it is delivered, and

Give your Ford the care it deserves—

WOULD you let a high-priced car "jerk" and "jump" for lack of the right oil? Then why let your Ford protest without heeding the warning? Your Ford will stop "jerking" when you put "F" Autoline Oil in your crank case.

"F" Autoline Oil softens hard, glazed brake and transmission linings—and thus enables them to grip the "drums" evenly—avoiding "jerky" stopping, starting and reversing.

"F" Autoline is a motor oil—a perfect all-season lubricant. It costs no more than ordinary oil. It won't clog the oil line.

Note:—Don't expect "F" Autoline Oil for Fords to do the impossible. It cannot replace worn-out bands or linings. Have your car in good condition—equipped with standard Ford parts. Drain the oil from your crank case every 500 miles and fill it again with "F" Autoline Oil. This is necessary with any oil.

HER POCKETBOOK
If you remember back 30 years, you recall that very few women were employed in business, except in such places as drygoods stores, restaurants, schools, hospitals, theatricals and small-town postoffices.
Today there is hardly a business you can walk into without finding women on the payroll and often in charge.
It makes you wonder, sometimes, "how far the thing will go"—and if, at some future date, the woman not on the payroll of some business organization will be the exception.
The possibility now looms, that the flood of women into business has reached its high-water mark. This unique turn of events is suggested by a survey made by Henry D. Sayer, industrial commissioner of New York state. Economists say that "York State" business conditions are usually typical of the national situation.

Sayer's report is that women gainfully employed in New York state number 1,135,948, or about a ninth of the total population.
It's a big figure, but only 151,560 more women than "earned their own living" 10 years ago.
The increase barely has kept pace with gain in population. On the basis of population, the percentage of New York women gainfully employed has stood still during the last decade.

Surprising occupations are selected by many of the New York women.
They are employed as undertakers, teamsters, horse doctors, aeronauts, constables, architects, chemists, clergymen, dentists, lawyers, inventors and mechanical and electrical engineers.
The list continues at great length. Its variety suggests that women could duplicate every business achievement by man. It is all a matter of training and environment.
That is natural. Some of the wisest and most powerful rulers of history have been women—notably Elizabeth of England, Queen Victoria, Catharine of Russia, Isabella of Spain, who pawned her jewels to finance Columbus, and the inventor of the silk industry—wife of Huang-Ti, Chinese emperor.

The economic independence of women is an exceptionally good thing, from most viewpoints.
The goal of every woman, however, should be homemaking and motherhood. Nature generally takes care of that and makes arguments, for-and-against, superfluous.
Whether the tide has turned and women are gravitating to the home instead of business, remains to be seen. It would, however, be a natural accompaniment of the present gradual rebirth of old-fashioned home life.

WAYWARD
A wealthy New York manufacturer was repeatedly robbed by his son. Finally he had the lad arrested. With tears in his eyes, he has just heard the judge sentence the thief to three years in the penitentiary.

The father says he became convinced that his son was a confirmed criminal and that "it was my duty to protect society."
What would you have done, in his shoes?
Men and women usually never know what trouble is until they have a family. There is no reason why this should be, except that there's something wrong with the system of economics and child-training.

WEALTH
Do you find it hard to save? Solution is simple. You have noticed that, when you owe a bill, somehow you manage to pay it.
Why not consider yourself in debt to the individual you will be 20 years from now, and make regular payments into a savings account, gradually clearing the debt? Buying a home on the installment plan is a good way.
Jim Hill, the railroad king, got rich by borrowing. He used to say that he never had a dollar of his own, was always in debt. Maybe he didn't have the cash, but he was steadily accumulating wealth.

DICKENS
Charles Dickens was a newspaper hack-writer. His best stuff was churned out at top-speed for the daily papers of London, and he had to work at top-speed to keep up with the presses.
For all this, Dickens was paid next to nothing. At an auction of the library of the late Theodore N. Vail, in New York, 10 pages of the original manuscript of a Dickens story sells for $1200.

That is not much more than Dickens would get if he were writing today. Modern civilization rewards artists in their lifetime, not years after their death. Quantity production makes it possible. Today business is the "patron" of art, position held in former centuries by kings and noblemen.

MONEY
The Russian ruble is so worthless that the Soviet will print 100,000,000-ruble banknotes, worth about $25 apiece. If the ruble were at its original or par value, in foreign exchange, one of these banknotes would be worth $51,500,000.
The plight of the ruble will be appreciated in Brazil, where the unit of money is the rei. When exchange is normal, 1000 reis are worth about 25 cents in American money. It takes hundreds of reis to pay carfare or buy a glass of beer in Brazil. And this is not in depreciated money. It is the regular thing.
Reis, however, need not tremble in their boots, for one of them still is worth about 500 rubles.

MILITARY
Belgium and France sign a military alliance. They will act together, regardless of circumstances—"come hell or high water," as the Old Cattleman would have put it.
Diplomats call such an arrangement "an airtight pact."
The surface intention is to give the bill-collector a gun if Germany doesn't pay. In the background is uneasy fear of a German come-back, possibly allied with Russia.
Diplomats start very few things that eventually are not settled on the battlefield. They unsettle more than they settle.

SELFISHNESS
Gabriel Wells, who buys the original manuscript of a story of Charles Dickens, pays $120 a page.
Why pay so much when he could buy the same story, printed, at half a cent a page or less?
The answer is obvious. Wells pays the big price for "the only specimen"—something that cannot be duplicated.
The craving for possession of rare things is instinctive in most people. It is a mild outcropping of selfishness, the regulator of the individual's system of economics.

GRANDSON
Georges Frederique Gattineau, grandson of "Tiger" Clemenceau, has been looking for a job in Saxonville, Mass.
He is said to have spent 1,000,000 francs in less than a year. This followed his European university education.
More recently he has been shoveling coal on ocean freighters and working in American textile mills. It is a different type of education, but sometimes more profitable.

INSURANCE
How much insurance do you carry? Life policies, held by all Americans combined, total more than $43,000,000,000.
It's about $400 for every person in the country, or $2000 for a family of five.
That wouldn't last the widow and orphan long. The average man is about six weeks from the breadline, and his family about six months, in event of his death.

PROPRIETARY RIGHTS IN "GOOD STORIES"
In writing Chauncy M. Depew that he has "found a good deal of inspiration" in his "My Memories of Eighty Years," President Harding makes an observation which it is to be hoped will cause no blush of self-consciousness to mantle the cheek of the venerable author. "If I were permitted to venture a single criticism of this book," says the president:

It would be that you have perpetuated in it so many characteristic stories which are certain to be stolen by after-dinner speakers for the next century or so that I fear your own reputation as the foremost of American raconteurs will be liable to suffer. You know, the after-dinner speaker is quite conscienceless as to giving credit for the source of his anecdotes.
Mr. Depew's regard for the property rights of others in good stories is no doubt beyond suspicion. Given the faculty of invention in a conspicuous degree, the need of appropriation is to that extent reduced. But is it always possible to determine the origin of anecdotes? Some with a venerable pedigree have a way of getting lost and reappearing as new. To the present generation the story of Thackeray and the oysters—which made him think he "had swallowed a live baby"—is novel: a Sunday reviewer of Mr. Depew's volume calls it "a remarkably funny story," which it is, and ever will be, whoever first said it.
Good stories are færae nature. They are fair game for all after-dinner speakers and belong to the one who tells them best. As for Mr. Depew, he has been responsible for so many of them that he may feel, like Macaulay, that "a man should have enough to spare something for thieves."—New York World.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barion Roberts
In the first place," said the Man-in-the-Moon, after he had told Nancy and Nick about his fairy helpers, "I have to spend most of my time watching my enemies. I lose a lot of time that way and that is why I need your help. Old Eena Meena is one who bothers me a lot. He lives in a star quite close to the moon and mixes up atrocious dreams to send to the earth."
"Oh, cried out Nancy, "I suppose he was the one that sent the awful dreams to Nick and me. He almost made us lose our way when we were crossing the Seven Mountains one time on an errand for the 'Fairy Queen.'"
"Yes, sir," exclaimed Mr. Peetrabout, "he was the very one. I saw old Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, change himself into a bat and fly up to old Eena Meena's star."
"After awhile he flew away again with two bags and I just knew he was up to mischief. Old Eena Meena mixed those dreams, you may be sure, my dears."
"Every time I see a dream going toward the earth from his star I send some of my fairies to catch it, usually the Chimney-Sitters, for most dreams go down chimneys. Then my dream-fairies, the Towlsies, slide down a moon-beam and hurry down the chimney and substitute a lovely dream for the bad one."
"Is Mr. Eena Meena the only enemy you've got?" asked Nick.
"My, no!" sighed the Man-in-the-Moon. "That's why I sent for you. Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, and Eena Meena, the Wizard, and Tricky Trixio, the Wizard, and Hullo Hullo, the Conjuror, are all angels compared to my real enemy is Comet-Legs, so called because his legs are as curved as comets. He rides through the sky in a shooting star. He's jealous of me and my friends because he wishes to rule the sky. I'll tell you about him."

MANDAN NEWS

Memorial Day Parade Planned
All fraternal as well as the patriotic organizations of the city will be asked to make arrangements to place their members in the line of march for the Memorial day parade the morning of May 30 according to plans made last night by the members of Gilbert S. Furness Post No. 40, the American Legion.

It is planned also to hold the annual memorial day program at the high school gymnasium where seating possibilities are much greater than at the Palace theater, originally listed as the meeting place.
All patriotic organizations, the Legion, V. F. W., and Spanish War veterans will be merged into one marching unit, and the G. A. R. members will be provided with automobiles. The auxiliaries will also be merged.
The program of music and other numbers is now being prepared, and Attorney Hugh McCullough of Washburn will be the speaker of the day. There will be the usual services at the cemetery with the firing of volleys, decoration of the graves, and the placing of a wreath on the waters of the Missouri, a tribute to the sailor dead.
The Legion in the afternoon will send the firing squad and bugler and such others as desire to go, to Harbin where special services will be held at the grave of O. A. Priestad, a service man who died following his return from the war.
The Mandan principal band has offered its services for the program of the day and further details will be announced later.

Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Erickson have as their guests, Dr. Erickson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Erickson of Minneapolis.

TODAY'S WORD
Today's word is ETHNICAL. It's pronounced—eth-ni-kal, with accent on the first syllable.
It means—pertaining or peculiar to race; relating to common physical and mental traits in races.
It comes from—Latin "ethnicus," nation.
It's used like this—"The treaty-makers, after the war, made a pretense of trying to re-map Europe along ethnical lines but did not make much of a success of it."

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

HEY, SCROOGES, HOW ABOUT THIS? I HAD AN APPOINTMENT WITH YOU TO MEET YOU AT YOUR HOUSE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, BUT I FOUND NOBODY THERE.

I WAS THERE ALL RIGHT, MR. TRUE, AND NO DOUBT I DIDN'T HEAR YOU BECAUSE OUR DOOR BELL HAS BEEN OUT OF ORDER FOR SOME TIME.

YOU'LL HAVE PLENTY OF TIME NOW TO FIX IT WHILE YOU'RE AT HOME RE-OPERATING!!!

announced later. The post is sending a written invitation to all fraternal organizations to join the procession.

The legion last night elected Post Commander E. R. Griffin, Henry Handmann and Wm. P. Elison as the delegates to the state convention at Devils Lake. Alternates named were J. K. Kennelly, G. I. Olson and Clifford Thorberg. Arrangements were also made that any member who is able before midnight to secure the membership fees of enough delinquent Legionnaires to entitle the post to another accredited delegate, will win the honor. Dick Furness today bade fair to make the fourth member of the Mandan delegation.

Charles Henry Mackintosh of Chicago, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, addressed the members of the Town Criers Club at the Lewis and Clark hotel yesterday. Major A. W. Welch was toastmaster. Attorney J. M. Hanley of the Rotary and George F. Wilson, president of the Commercial Club gave short talks.

E. A. Ripley and H. G. Taylor went to Jamestown to attend the funeral of the late O. St. C. Chenery, prominent resident of that city.

Nick Schroeder, who has been visiting in Mandan the guest of his sister, Mrs. F. P. Homan, has returned to his home at McCluskey.

A THOUGHT
Cast the burden upon the Lord, and He shall sustain thee.—Psalm 55:22.
In breathing there are two kinds of blessings, inhaling the air and exhaling it; the former is oppressive, the latter refreshing, so strangely is life mingled. Thank God when he lays a burden on us, and thank Him when he lifts it off.—Goethe.

NEW CLUB LAYS PLANS.
New England N. D. May 23—The New England Toss Criers club, recently organized with 34 members, has appointed various working committees and has pledged itself to establish a tourist camp here; to boost the irrigation congress to be held at Bismarck June 7 and 8; to forward the campaign for a better system of farming to see that the western part of Hettinger county derives more benefit from the work of the Red Cross public health nurse, the county agent, and county club leader, to have the annual Hettinger county play day at New England in 1923; to work for more rural and star routes out of New England; and to work for the best interests of the whole community.

At the initial organization meeting, F. I. Simons was elected president and M. J. Connolly, secretary. At a second meeting, Harvey J. Miller was named vice president; and E. J. Freeman, treasurer. W. S. Jones was named secretary to succeed M. J. Connolly, resigned.

MORE COAL MINED.
Soft coal production is gradually increasing, now is close to 4,500,000 tons a week, or about 60 per cent as big as a year ago. Plenty of coal to be had by buyers, but mostly the expensive grades.

Some miners reason like this: "We might as well be idle several more months and then have steady work to build up coal reserves to normal, as drag along steadily at a few days a week. In the long run, just so much coal has to be mined."

Many striking anthracite miners are vacationing in the "Old Country."

STEEL MILLS BUSY.
Steel industry continues turning out three times as much tonnage as last July, when production hit bottom and started climbing. The general industry is running 70 per cent capacity. Iron mining operations are increasing in Lake Superior district.

Average selling price of leading steel products has advanced $2.30 a ton since March 1. The mills claim this is largely due to necessity of using high-priced coal instead of Connelville supply, shut off by strike.

Steel exports mounting. The big buying has shifted from Japan to South America.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY DEAD

The funeral of William H. Stimpson, 86, of 4514 South M. street, who died Sunday at a local hospital was held Tuesday at 3 p. m. from the C. C. Melliner chapel, says an item in a Tacoma, Wash. newspaper.
Mr. Stimpson was the father of Herbert E. Stimpson, president of the American Automobile Company. He will be long remembered as the old man who defended President Wilson when an attorney spoke sturgingly of the president in Mr. Stimpson's store.
In the late 70's Mr. Stimpson had a store in Bismarck, according to W. C. Davis, secretary and treasurer of the Tacoma Fir Door company, who gave the item to The Tribune. Mr. Davis was a clerk in John Davidson's office in the N. P. freight office here in those days.

BABE RUTH, SON OF SWAT, TO BE ON DECK TODAY

Will Appear on Home Grounds, St. Louis Being New York's Opponents

WILLIAMS VERSUS RUTH

These Two Home Run Kings Will Undoubtedly Draw Great Crowds During Series

New York, May 20.—His penance all performed, Babe Ruth the prodigal son of Swat, takes up his blind-goon today, as the New York Yankees open a long home series at the Polo Grounds with Kenneth Williams, the Ruthian Lochinvar from out of the West, trying to make his 1922 Metropolitan debut the beginning of a fade-out for George Herman.

Since he has read of the ball-slaming prowess of Williams, since he has been shown that the Yankees are more than a "one-man" club, since he has found that Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis means to enforce the rules and since he has discovered what it means not to be allowed to play, it is reported that Ruth's uniform—including his cap—fits better.

But regardless of the intrepidity of Mr. Williams, who seems intent upon galloping past the Babe's highwater mark of 59 home runs for last season; regardless of the fact that Ruth has a "record"—as a baseball Sher-ree, if one there was, would term it the Krowned King of Klouters is still the pride of Harlem and the biggest baseball drawing card the world has ever known.

In the view of many fans the attitude that Ruth has displayed since receiving his "sentence" from Commissioner Landis, the quiet manner in which he has conducted himself, his willingness to "play the game" and his apparent determination to make up for lost time—all of this will bring as many people to the ball yards as see him this year as did last.

Elated Over Yanks' Pace

According to those who have the Bambino's confidence he has been elated over the fast pace the Yanks have set without him in the line-up and now that he knows that he is a trifle more valuable as a magnet to the box-office than as a counter in the total scoring he will attempt more than ever to be more of a first-class baseball player and a more diligent purveyor of satisfaction to fandom in general.

Ruth's appearance in the line-up today will mark his first appearance in a league game this year, 28 days after the opening of the season and, necessitates Ruth slamming out one home-run at least every other day and three one day to surpass his record of last year.

The Babe was banished last fall by Commissioner Landis together with Bob Meusel, another Yank whose achievement of getting 24 homers last year is seldom thought of for playing an exhibition game with the Buffalo International League team after the World Series had ended, in violation of the rule that prohibits World Series players from indulging in such exhibitions.

Not only did Ruth and Meusel violate the rule but they did it after Commissioner Landis had personally talked with Ruth and told him what would happen in case the rule was violated. After that conversation Ruth expressed his determination to flout the Commissioner, and Landis, meeting the most severe test of his baseball career, fore-shadowed what his decision would be by saying:

"It will be a personal issue between Ruth and me to determine which man is bigger in baseball." With the 38 days suspension over it looks to baseball fandom as if Landis is convinced that Landis is the bigger and that Ruth also is so convinced.

As soon as he had flouted Landis, Ruth was sorry, but he "had gone and done it." Full of remorse and forebodings, Ruth hopped back to New York swore repentance and took a rest. Soon the Landis decision came along and Babe became quiet—quiet until Colonel Huston, part owner of the Yankees, found him at Hot Springs and got the Babe to sign a five-year contract calling for between $75,000 and $100,000 a year fat salary.

Babe Sat in the Grandstand

Babe went to the training camp with the club and played in the exhibition games enroute home and at home, but when the club opened in Washington Ruth sat in the grandstand like President Harding. Since then he has practiced off and on, read the papers, travelled a bit, played golf, undergone a minor operation, and become glum and downcast, anticipatory and happy.

He dons his uniform again today "better balanced," as Commissioner Landis, who is now his very good friend, would say.

Ruth, unquestionably the greatest hitter of all time, has batted out 142 homeruns in the last three years. He scored four in 1915, three in 1916, two in 1917, 11 in 1918, 29 in 1919—breaking the then world's record, 54 in 1920, and 59 last year. His homerun hitting has become so prolific that it was suggested last season that he be handicapped by being allowed only two strikes or to bat only with one hand.

Few expect that he will come near equalling last year's mark, let alone establish a new record, considering that one-fourth of his playing time for the year is gone, although on May 20 last year, Ruth had collected only 12 circuit smashes, approximately one-fifth of his total in one-fourth of his time. His attempt, however, will supply interest for the lagging period of dog days.
